Notice of this is given to the shareholders by registered letter indicating the bank account to which the payment, to the exclusion of all other methods of payment, should be made by transfer or cash deposit. 15.2. The directors are natural persons or corporate entities, who need not to be a shareholder.

15.3. When a corporate entity is appointed as a member of the board of directors, it appoints a natural person as its permanent representative who is charged with the implementation of the mandate in the name and for the account of the corporate entity.

This permanent representative has to comply to the same conditions as the corporate entity and is jointly and severally liable as if he personally executed the relevant mandate in his own name and for his own account.

The rules regarding conflicts of interest are, as the case occurs, applicable to the permanent representative.

The permanent representative cannot be a member of the same board in his own name or as the permanent representative of another corporate entity-director.

The corporate entity cannot dismiss the permanent representative without simultaneously appointing a successor.

- 15.4. The board of directors has at least five (5) directors, of which at least three (3) need to be independent (in the sense of article 7:87 of the CCA).
In accordance with article 7:86 of the CCA at least one-third (1/3) of the board members need to be of a different gender than the other members, whereby the minimum required number is rounded to the nearest whole number.
The gender for a corporate entity is determined by that of its permanent representative.
- 15.5. Only the general meeting is authorised to fix the number of directors. The directors are appointed by the general meeting. They are appointed for six (6) years at the maximum, however their mandate can be renewed without limitation.
Directors can, in their capacity of director, not be bound by an employment agreement with the company.
- 15.6. The general meeting can always, and without specification of reasons, terminate the mandate of each director with immediate effect.
The general meeting can, both at the time of the appointment as at the time of the termination, determine the date when the mandate comes to an end, or grant a termination compensation.
Nonetheless, the general meeting can always terminate the mandate of a director for legal reasons, without notice period of termination compensation.
- 15.7. Each director can resign by a mere notification to the board of directors.
At the request of the company he remains in office until the company can reasonably provide for his replacement.
Each termination of the mandate of a director, for whatever reason, even by force of law, must be made public by the company in the Annexes to the Belgian Official Journal, without prejudice to the right of a resigning director to personally do everything to oppose the termination of his mandate towards third persons.
- 15.8. When in the board of directors the position of a director becomes vacant, the remaining directors are entitled to co-opt a new director.
The next general meeting has to confirm the mandate of the co-opted director; upon such confirmation the thus co-opted director completes the mandate of his predecessor, unless the general meeting resolves otherwise.
Failing confirmation the mandate of the co-opted director expires at the closing of the general meeting, without the latter affecting the regularity of the composition of the board of directors until that moment.

Article 16: Powers of the board of directors

- 16.1. The board of directors is authorised to carry out all actions that are necessary or useful to achieve the purpose of the company, with the exception of those that according to law are reserved for the general meeting.

The board meetings are chaired by the chairman, or, in his absence, by his substitute.
The meeting is held in the company's registered office or in any other place indicated in the notice convening the meeting.
This notice contains the agenda.
- 20.2. The board of directors can only deliberate about and resolve on matters mentioned on the agenda and only on the condition that at least half of its members are present or validly represented at the meeting.
- 20.3. Moreover, directors who cannot physically be present at the meeting can nonetheless participate in the deliberations and votes by means of telecommunication, such as a telephone -, or video conference, on the condition that all participants in the meeting can communicate directly with all other participants.

The persons who participate in the meeting through said means of telecommunication are considered to be present.

The minutes of the meeting clearly specify which directors thus participated in the deliberations and votes.

- 20.4. The board of directors can only deliberate about and resolve on matters not mentioned on the agenda when all board members are present at the meeting and have agreed thereto.

This agreement is assumed to have been given, when no objection is recorded in the minutes.

- 20.5. Each director can, by any means of communication that can be reproduced in a printed document bearing his signature (for which digital signatures, as set out in article 1322 second paragraph of the Civil Code, are allowed) charge one of his fellow members to represent him at a specific meeting of the board of directors and to vote for him and in his place.

In the events of an authentic deed a director can only be represented by means of an originally signed written power of attorney, insofar the legislation in force so requires.

In these circumstances the principal is considered as being present.

A director can represent several of his fellow board members.

- 20.6. The resolutions of the board of directors are adopted by simple majority of the votes.

In the case of a tie vote, the vote of the director chairing the meeting is decisive.

- 20.7. Unanimous written resolution

The resolutions of the board of directors can be adopted by unanimous written resolution of all directors.

At the request of one or more directors a document is forwarded to all directors by any of the means of communication set out by article 2281 of the Civil Code, in which the proposed resolutions are set out, with the request to return the document, dated and signed, to the address of the company within a term indicated for each specific case.

The signatures of the directors (where digital signatures are also allowed in accordance with article 1322 second paragraph of the Civil Code) are placed either on one document or on multiple originals of the said document.

Such written resolution is deemed to have been adopted on the date of the last signature or on the date mentioned in the document.

When the consent of all the directors has not been obtained within the term set out for each specific case from its initial dispatch, such resolutions will be considered not to have been adopted.

Article 21: Minutes of the board of directors

- 21.1. Minutes are kept of the resolutions of the board of directors, which are bound in a special register.

When so resolved by the board of directors such register may be kept in electronic form.

22.2. When a corporate entity is appointed as a member of the daily management body, it appoints a natural person as its permanent representative who is charged with the implementation of the mandate in the name and for the account of the corporate entity.

This permanent representative has to comply to the same conditions as the corporate entity and is jointly and severally liable as if he personally executed the relevant mandate in his own name and for his own account.

The rules regarding conflicts of interest are, as the case occurs, applicable to the permanent representative.

The corporate entity cannot dismiss the permanent representative without simultaneously appointing a successor.

22.3. The daily management includes all acts and decisions that do not exceed the need of the everyday life of the company as well as the acts and decisions that, due to their lesser importance or their urgency, do not justify the intervention of the board of directors.

The board of directors can clarify or specify the scope of the "daily management" in an internal regulation.

22.4. The board of directors can appoint one or more of its members as "managing director" and grant them the powers that the board of directors deems to be appropriate.

Thus the managing director can be appointed as "daily management body".
